For Thanksgiving Day

You will be looking for something just a little bit different—Don't forget that this is a little bit different grocery store—a special occasion and a day in an out grocery shop.

Also, don't forget, that you can't have an eatable demand, but we are ready to meet it. Prepared in a way not quite the ordinary.

We are ready for Thanksgiving like this—

Raisins, Currents, Nuts, Citron, Dates, Figs, Cherries, and Spices of all kinds for Black Cake.
Celery, Oysters and Cranberries.

Theo Currey.

Have you left any fields in condition to wash badly during the winter months?
Remember that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Tobacco came in case just in time to get the voters' mind off the election.
We have much to be thankful for if we would only count our blessings.

Some of the good women, have been taking the announcement of President Wilson's engagement pretty hard.
Some of them have gone so far as to declare that they never intend to waste any more tears over the sorrow of any widower.

The farms on Stanford pike have been closed to hunters. Law-abiding citizens should report violators of the game laws. The birds placed in this and other territories must be protected for several years if we expect to profit by their being placed here.

When a man complains about the high cost of living, go at him as follows:
"Your dad used to drive a yoke of steers and linkin wagon; you drive a pair of roadsters hitched to a top buggy; your son drives a six cylinder, forty-horse-power automobile." That explains it.

The farmers of Central Kentucky are said to be holding back their Irish potatoes in anticipation of a rising market, and as a result report that only a limited supply of the crop is coming in. Dealers here are paying fifty cents per bushel for the tubers and claim they are scarce at that.

Paris, after nearly a century of exhibiting and financing a county fair, quits the game on account of its not paying. County Fairs were once the pride of each county, parading before enthusiastic multitudes everything from a pumpkin pie to a race horse, but they are fast fading into pleasant memories.

The death of Booker T. Washington is a national misfortune, for his life was a national benefaction. He stood head and shoulders above any man of his race, and his towering figure for more than a generation was a pillar of fire to light his people out of the darkness of ignorance, indolence and error. —Courier Journal.

The recent showers put tobacco in stripping order and a good deal of the weed was put down. It is hoped there will be good weather for stripping so that the sales may begin in good shape by December 1st. This will enable a good many farmers to meet their Christmas expenses and have something left for their January bills.

Reports are to the effect that rabbits and quail are in average numbers. But don't overlook the fact that there's a difference between the "partridge" as we know Bob White down here, and the English pheasants recently placed in this section. Don't let the gun go off on a Hungarian pheasant as Uncle Dave Ross has the jail full now.

It would be well for hunters or sports men, in addition to informing themselves as to the requirements of the State Game Laws, to get in touch with the Federal restrictions regarding migratory birds. The Department of Agriculture has issued a warning that Federal regulations as amended October 1, 1914, will be enforced this year in regard to all migratory birds.

A critic of the Wilson marriage has been ousted from postal service in Illinois and is unable to get back his job. He said he had expressed himself by saying he thought the President should have waited a year, but says he meant no disrespect. Now our postmaster is a great believer in marriage and has given his hearty approval of the President's step to brighten his lonely life.

LARGE BEET

Mrs. Sam Ball brought to this office the largest beet we have seen this year.
It is a perfect specimen and weighs four pounds.

TO BUY MULES.

Mr. R. H. Price, of Townsville, S. C., will be in Lancaster next Saturday, Nov., 20th to buy mules, from 14½ to 16 hands high. Have your mules here on that day.

TURKEY SUPPER

The "Circle Girls" will give a turkey supper over the Rex Theater to-night and something over fifty plates have already been spoken for. The price is only fifty cents. Go down and get your mule's worth and help a good cause.

LOST POCKET BOOK.

A pocket book containing about $50, in cash and a note for $15, was lost last Monday between Hedgeville and Bettis' store on Danville pike. A liberal reward for its recovery. Inform this office or Bob Carrier, Stanford pike.

MISS PRATHER RESIGNS.

Miss Eunice Prather, who has been with the Joseph Mercantile Co., for several years, resigned her position there last Saturday and has accepted a like position with Mr. J. E. Dickerson.
Miss Eunice is one of the most popular clerks in the city.

WAR PICTURES.

The war pictures at Roman's Opera House Friday night were of more than ordinary interest. The German side of the war was shown to a crowded house.
Mr. Romans is to be commended for bringing on such instructive pictures.
These pictures have been pronounced the best war pictures yet shown in this country. Mr. Romans will show extraordinary pictures Friday and Saturday nights. See them.

SOLD OUT.

Mr. Harry Anderson, who has conducted a splendid furniture business in our town has sold out to Mr. J. F.
Holtzclaw and son, who will hereafter conduct a first class up-to-date furniture store at this stand. In a few weeks the two stores of Messrs. Holtz-claw will be combined and they solicit your patronage and promise to give the best goods at lowest prices.

The transfer of Mr. Anderson's stock was made last Tuesday.

RIGHT, AS USUAL.

"Any man can go through life and not have enemies. All he has to do is to say nothing, be nothing and do nothing," says Luke McLuke, the sage of The Cincinnati Enquirer.

And, as usual, Luke is right. A deaf and dumb man ought to get along without making any enemies, but he would have to be careful about how he acted, at that, or somebody would turn against him. The man without an enemy is ready for the embalming fluid and the black trimmings.

FIXED BY LAW.

The State law fixes both the time for the official canvass of the State vote as well as the inauguration and induction into office of the new Governor.
Twenty days after the election is the time designated for the meeting of the State Election Board, which will issue the certificate of election. This will be November 22. The law stipulates that the new Governor must take the oath and assume his office on the fifth Tuesday after election, and this will fall on December 7. All the rest of the State, district and county officers will be sworn in on the first Monday in January.

COL. WALTON.

Col. W. P. Walton, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Secretary of State, owner and editor of the Lex-ingtonian, and one of the best known journalists in Kentucky, continues dangerously ill at his home. Acute stomach trouble is his ailment and his physician has ordered him to remain quiet in his home for a month in the hope that a careful diet will improve his condition.
His brother, Ed. C. Walton, of the Stanford Interior Journal, was here yesterday to see the patient and said that while Col. Walton is a very sick man, his family and friends have hopes that the regimen prescribed for him will restore him to his normal vigor—Lexington Leader.

CLEAN UP.

Now that most of the leaves have fallen from the shade trees, and the yards, streets and alleys are "litter-alley" covered with leaves it behooves us all to look out for fires. A lighted match, carelessly dropped into a bank of leaves may make an expensive conflagration, while a little cleaning up may save us from such a calamity. An hour spent by some member of each family would give this old town and entirely different look, and relieve a very dangerous condition. It is very much easier to fight a fire of leaves in a gutter or on a street than it is to fight it in a frame house after it gets a good start. The best possible disposition of leaves is to put them on the garden for fertilizer, but at any rate get rid of the leaves. Lets all clean up!

NOTICE TO COR-

RESPONDENTS.

We ask our correspondents to have their letters for next week's issue in by Monday. Following our usual custom we will get out the Record on Wednesday instead of Thursday. This will give our office force a day of rest and plenty of time to digest their turkey.

QUAIL SEASON

OPENED MONDAY.

The season for hunting quail opened Monday. The birds are said to be scarce this year. Hunters must have license before going hunting. The license, however, does not give a man the right to hunt on another's land without first getting the land owner's permission, and there are many land owners who will allow no one under any circumstances to hunt on their farms.

GARRARD COMMENDED

ON ROAD WORK.

The writer accepted the kind invitation of Mr. C. C. Thomas, the genial Secretary of the Board of Commerce to accompany him to Lexington Sunday.
The trip was made by the way of Stanford, Lancaster, Camp Nelson and Nicholasville, and every where along the way was seen the great forward movement in road construction. Garrard county especially is all hustle in her road work, and a finer piece of roadway can hardly be found than on the Boone Highway in that county.— Somerset News.

HUNTING FORBIDDEN

ON STANFORD ROAD.

Hunting is strictly forbidden on the Stanford pike. The pheasants that were placed on the farm of John Farra have paired off and have been seen at different times on other farms and in order to protect them those owning farms along this road have had them posted. These farmers would hate to prosecute anyone seen hunting on their land but they have entered into an agreement to do so. Every real sportsman will recognize the wisdom of protecting these birds and not allowing them to become frightened. Study the law before getting out your gun!

HENRY WELCH DIES

AT LEXINGTON.

Henry Welch, aged 66, died in Lexington at an early hour Wednesday and the remains were brought to Crab Orchard and interred in the cemetery at noon Thursday. Mr. Welch was a brother of Mrs. J. B. Owsley, of this city, and had been in bad health for a long time. Until last summer he had lived in the West, but he came to Stanford then and remained quite a while with his sister. Later he grew worse and was taken to Lexington infirmary, where he died after a protracted illness.
Mr. Welch was born and reared in the Crab Orchard section and has many friends there and elsewhere who regret that he is no more. He was never married. —Interior Journal.

MORROW CONGRATU-

LATES STANLEY

The Courier Journal of yesterday says: "A cordial handshake, accompanied by an exchange of compliments as to the good race each of them made, featured the first meeting, since the election, of A. O. Stanley and Edwin P. Morrow, the latter of whom was defeated by a narrow margin. The two men met in the lobby of the Seelbach.
Mr. Stanley was in the company of Mrs. Stanley, when Mr. Morrow walked up and shook hands with his opponent.

"You made a great race," he said.
"And so did you," was Mr. Stanley's reply.

"While at the Seelbach, M. H.
Thatcher, appointed Governor of the Canal Zone by President Taft, congratulated Mr. Stanley as the next governor."

WILD RUMOR

ABOUT DANVILLE.

A wild rumor comes from Danville that plans are actually made for a hotel in that townless town and are now being scrutinized by fire insurance authorities. This is sensational if true but we see no reason for the residents of that conservative city to get excited.
If it takes four years to decide on a location and plans for a much needed improvement, it should take many more to erect the building they call for, if pushed along with the same relative speed. It can go up slowly and imperceptibly and thus growing by degrees the good citizens need not have their digested sense of quiet and respect for the old order of things jarred by any sudden violent change in the landscape.
In the meantime if the stranger suffers within her gates for a place whereon to lay his head, Wilmore can lend her a hotel as Wilmore apparently has more of them than she can conveniently use herself. —Wilmore Enterprise.
